Liturgical Jottings

True Worship III

In order that the liturgy may be able to produce its full effects, it is necessary that the faithful come to it with proper dispositions, that their minds should be attuned to their voices, and that they should cooperate with divine grace lest they receive it in vain. ... Pastors' duty is to ensure that the faithful take part fully aware of what they are doing, actively engaged in the rite, and enriched by its effects. Constitution on the Liturgy art.11

Pope Francis on Talents

This parable tells us that the expectation of the Lord's return is the time of action — we are in the time of action. The time to seek to increase goodness in the world. It is important not to turn in on ourselves, burying our talent, our spiritual, intellectual, and material riches, but to open ourselves, to be supportive, to be attentive to others.

Looking at the Readings

The eulogy given in the first reading from the book of Proverbs is in praise of a woman who does things to perfection and with love. Let us not interpret it otherwise. And in juxtaposition with today's Gospel, this passage speaks of wisdom and giftedness.

What eulogy will be preached of the servant who simply buried his one talent in the ground? For that matter what eulogy would be given about the harsh master who demanded more than he gave.

The Parable of the Talents has several layers of meaning: making good use of the resources and graces God gives to us; the unexpectedness of the master's return; and the use of time between the two Christ events (Ascension and Second coming). We cannot be idle because the Lord entrusts us with the Kingdom of Heaven.

The parable is not to be taken in human terms of contracts, profit margins, rewards and punishments but in God's terms of relationships with people, justice and mercy and be active in life through prayer, good works and charity. The Gospel today is an invitation to share in the Lord's joy and peace.

Feast of the Week St Cecilia –22 November

Very little is known about Cecilia, patron saint of music. Her name is not mentioned in many early historical lists, except in the Roman Canon (First Eucharistic Prayer). She is recognised as a virgin martyr and her feast day is celebrated as a memorial, attesting to her universal popularity in the Church and with musicians in general.

Quote of the Week

The great cannot exist without the small, nor the small without the great; there is a certain mixture among all, and herein lies the advantage. Letter of St Pope Clement I to the Corinthians, 37:4.

On the Lighter Side

For those who tire of excuses why people don't go to church, these are the reasons why I never wash. 1. I was forced to wash as a child. 2. People who wash are hypocrites - they think they're cleaner than others. 3. There are so many kinds of soap I could never decide which was right. 4. I used to wash, but it got boring. 5. I only wash on Christmas and Easter. 6. None of my friends wash. 7. I'll start washing when I'm older. 8. I really don't have the time. 9. The bathroom isn't warm enough. 10. People who make soap are only after your money.

Message from His Holiness Pope Francis (an excerpt)

First World Day of The Poor

Let us love, not with words but with deeds

1. "Little children, let us not love in word or speech, but in deed and in truth" (1 Jn 3:18). These words of the Apostle John voice an imperative that no Christian may disregard. The seriousness with which the "beloved disciple" hands down Jesus' command to our own day is made even clearer by the contrast between the empty words so frequently on our lips and the concrete deeds against which we are called to measure ourselves. Love has no alibi. Whenever we set out to love as Jesus loved, we have to take the Lord as our example; especially when it comes to loving the poor. The Son of God's way of loving is well-known, and John spells it out clearly. It stands on two pillars: God loved us first (cf. 1 Jn 4:10-19), and he loved us by giving completely of himself, even to laying down his life (cf. 1 Jn 3:16).

Such love cannot go unanswered. Even though offered unconditionally, asking nothing in return, it so sets hearts on fire that all who experience it are led to love back, despite their limitations and sins. Yet this can only happen if we welcome God's grace, his merciful charity, as fully as possible into our hearts, so that our will and even our emotions are drawn to love both God and neighbour. In this way, the mercy that wells up – as it were – from the heart of the Trinity can shape our lives and bring forth compassion and works of mercy for the benefit of our brothers and sisters in need.

2. "This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him" (Ps 34:6). The Church has always understood the importance of this cry. We possess an outstanding testimony to this in the very first pages of the Acts of the Apostles, where Peter asks that seven men, "full of the Spirit and of wisdom" (6:3), be chosen for the ministry of caring for the poor. This is certainly one of the first signs of the entrance of the Christian community upon the world's stage: the service of the poor. The earliest community realized that being a disciple of Jesus meant demonstrating fraternity and solidarity, in obedience to the Master's proclamation that the poor are blessed and heirs to the Kingdom of heaven (cf. Mt 5:3).

"They sold their possessions and goods and distributed them to all, as any had need" (Acts 2:45). In these words, we see clearly expressed the lively concern of the first Christians. The evangelist Luke, who more than any other speaks of mercy, does not exaggerate when he describes the practice of sharing in the early community. On the contrary, his words are addressed to believers in every generation, and thus also to us, in order to sustain our own witness and to encourage our care for those most in need. The same message is conveyed with similar conviction by the Apostle James. In his Letter, he spares no words: "Listen, my beloved brethren. Has not God chosen those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he has promised to those who love him? But you have dishonoured the poor man. Is it not the rich who oppress you, and drag you into court? ... What does it profit, my brethren, if a man says he has faith but has not works? Can his faith save him? If a brother or sister is poorly clothed and in lack of daily food, and one of you says to them, 'Go in peace, be warmed and filled', without giving them the things needed for the body; what does it profit? So faith by itself, if it has not works, is dead' (2:5-6.14-17).
